Organization and the Farmer's Problem

Last week we reported the organiza tion of a farmers' association. This brings up for our careful consideration some of the serious problems the farmer is called upon to meet. Every thing he buys is priced on the basis of cost of production plus at least a rea sonable profit. Unfortunately of late the cost of production has not been on a basis of reasonable efficiency nor has the profit seemed to stop short of all the traffic will bear. Yet in the face of this situation the farmer has not been able to put his operation upon a sound business basis. Just as much as any one else the farmer is entitled to and should receive for his products the cost of production plus a reasonable profit. Nor can we see any more reason why the farmer's wife and children should work without pay than the wite and children of the mechanic. If necessity compels the farmer's family to join him in productive endeavor each member is entitled to fair pay for service rendered to be charged against the thing produced. Only thoughtful and united action can remedy the existing conditions. But when united the farmer has a weapon of such terrible possibilities that he must carefully choose and keep a leadership that realizes it has not merely rights to protect but duties to perform. We urge all farmers to come to the next meeting in

A Broken Hook

Just as we are closing our forms Mr. Ward made a speech to a courteous and attentive audience composed largely of Republicans. We have not time to report the speech but it is a bit of an insult to common sense to have Wilsopian keep you out of war falsehood served up again. The Wilson hypocrisy of 1916 is rotten bait upon a bro ken hook and will not even catch

Mr. Ward showed willingness to misrepresent the honored dead by quoting Theodore Roosevelt's support of a world court and applying it to the Wilson league. McKinley started this world court idea and Roosevelt developed it, while Wilson junked it for his dream of a world autocracy with himself as dictator. Harding stands for junking the Wilson mortgage and returning to the court idea of Roosevelt.

And Still Doing It. A man in Abingdon was fined by a magistrate for sleeping and snoring in church. Nothing was done to the clergyman for Derting him to sleep.— Richmond Dispatch, May 17, 1870.

DOUGHBOY HAS A GRIEVANCE

Why in the World Don't Frenchmen Give Proper Pronunciation to Their Absurd Worda?

Take the city of Troyes, favorably known throughout the A. E. F. as a practically M. P.-less burg, writes Tip Bilss in the American Legion Weekly. Naturally, any human being would pronounce it to rhyme with "noise," knowledge of a good deed well performed.

Not so the frisky prof. He calls it "Twa," though why and wherefore le bon Dieu alone knows.

But if you want to get even with the f, p., try him out with a regular word with plenty of "w's" and "h's" and "th's" in it. "Whether" is the cat's fur, as the army expression almost has it. Tackle him with "whether" and watch him gargle and stammer and sizzle and finally turn up his toes and pass away while somewhere in his insides are still resounding the last despairing notes of his infernal interpretation of a good, Christian word into "vay-zair-r-re."

"Vay-gair-r-re!" Shade of Babel! Now, as regards the matter of spelling. One of the Frenchman's pet menstrositles in "Kiss-ka-say." Does he spell it that way? Ouija answers. He goes to work and unburdens himself of vowels and sibliants and things until he has gotten rid of "Qu'est-ce que c'est!"

What does it mean? It means: "What is this that this is?" Which is n fine healthy way of maltreating. "Huh?"

Hub is right.

DENMARK TO BE REPUBLIC?

According to Reports, the Little Country May Abandon the Monarchical Principle Soon.

News dispatches from Copenhagen state that there is a possibility of the establishment of a republic in Denmark, the little country that has been a monarchy since King Healfdene ruled the counsey in 400 A. D.

Denmark is today a limited menar thy, ruled by King Christian, who dieldes his power with the two houses of parliament. During the war it suffered heavily in both its leading industries, dairying and the merchant marine. Many Danish ships were sunk by U-boats despite their neutrality, and the large herds of cattle that had supplied a large part of Europe's butter and cream were killed for food.

Denmark has a population of 2,500, 000, a large part of whom live on small farms. Its area is 14,829 square miles, slightly larger than the state of Maryland. It is densely populated, with 165 people to the square mile on the mainland and 275 to the square mile on the many islands along the coast. Copenhagen, the capital and principal seaport, is situated on the island of Zeeland. The island folk form the merchant marine and the fisheries, while the farmers live on the fertile main-

Iceberg Was an Acrobat.

Not far from the spot where the Titanic was sunk by an iceberg in April, 1912, a fleet of 14 icebergs, some of them rising to more than 100 feet above the water line, were sighted by the steamship Munaires on a recent

Captain Fleming of the Munaires says that one of the bergs gave a re markable exhibition of tumbling as the vessel satled past. It had apparently lost a good deal of its under water weight through the action of the warm sea water, and as they watched it the great iceberg suddenly to ped to starboard and rolled over with an immense splash. As it fell, a big section of the top broke away, with the result that the balance was altered and the berg tumbled back again. Then, just as it was righting itself, another section broke off, and it tumbled once more. The sight was a most unusual one .-Edinburgh Scotsman.

Thread In Manchuria,

Almost all of the $2,000,000 worth of cotton thread imported annually into Manchuria comes from Japan, partly because Japanese manufacturers have the advantage over possible competitors of government encouragement and support, and partly because there has been little competition from those sufficiently interested in this market to study its requirements as have the Japanese, says the New York Times. Goods were placed with merchants on consignment until they became known, were extensively advertised, and are now sold on liberal credit basis, so that American manufacturers entering the market will not only have to compete on a quality basis, but should adopt similar methods of pushing their goods.

WHAT SHAPE HAS MOTH HOLE?

On This by No Means Simple Question Hangs Result of an Omaha Lawsuit.

On whether a moth makes an oblong hole or a round hole when he sinks his molars into the more succulent portions of dad's last winter overcoat or sister's summer furs, hinges a law suit in Justice Collins' court, brought by an Omaha store against Miss Jose phine Hill of Council Bluffs, The store seeks to enforce payment for an $80 suit which Miss Hill is alleged to have purchased, says the World-Her-

According to the girl's testimony, a week after she bought the suit she found a moth hole in it. She returned it to the store. The suit was mended and given back to her with instructions to wear it 30 days and bring it back at the end of that time if not satisfactory.

Miss Hill testified she were the suit for 30 days, placing it carefully on a hanger in her closet each night. At the end of the specified period, examina tion, she said, revealed not one but a whole community of holes. She refused to pay for the suit, and the store took the case into court.

After one clerk for the store told the court the holes complained of couldn't be mach holes, because any self-respective moth eats a round hole, whill those under discussion were distinctly oblong, and after Miss Hill had made an exhibition of the holes and another clerk had suggested that Miss Hill might have worn the holes in the skirt by rubbing against her typewriter desk, Justice Collins looked wise and took the matter under advisement.

Coal Mine Gases.

The chief gases of coal mines are stated by Coal Age to be: Methane or marsh gas, sometimes called light carbureted hydrogen, carbon monoxide, the whitedamp of miners, and carbon dioxide, which, with nitrogen, forms the blackdamp. Hydrogen sulphide or sulphureted bydrogen occurs in limited quantities, as do the heavy hydro-carbons-ethylene or oleflant gas, and ethane. Except carbon dioxide and nitrogen, these gases are all explosive.

"Yes, boys," continued the steeple jack, who was telling "true and thrilling stories, "yes, I was working a clock tower one afternoon about tweive minutes to 6, when I slipped, slid down the roof and caught on the long hand of the clock. There I dangled while the town folks collected below. So I yells to 'em, 'Say you folks, go home to your suppers, it'll be close to half an hour before I drop,"

Chief Seat of Iron Industry.

In the early days Massachusetts was the chief seat of the iron industry in the American colonies, the first successful blast furnace having been put in operation at Lynn in 1643. In 1750 Pennsylvania became the leading iron producing state, and maintained the supremacy for upward of a hundred
